	ORDER DISMISSING WITHOUT PREJUDICE MINOR PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS

United States District Court
For the Northern District of California

     On September 20, 2011, this Court granted Plaintiffs' counsel's motion to withdraw. In doing so, the Court informed

Plaintiffs that if they wished to pursue this litigation, they would have to retain new counsel or represent themselves in propria persona. The Court also noted that Plaintiffs who are minor children cannot represent themselves or appear without guardian ad litem.[1] The Court granted sixty days for minor

Plaintiffs to find new counsel and seek appointment of a guardian

     [1] Eugene Forte's July 11, 2011 opposition brief indicates that Noel Forte and Juston Forte are his minor children, but does not disclose their birthdates.

1   ad litem for the purpose of pursuing this action, or face

2   dismissal of their claims.

3   The sixty day deadline has expired and there is no indication

4   that minor Plaintiffs have complied with the Court's order.

5   Therefore, minor Plaintiffs' claims are dismissed without

6   prejudice. The remaining parties shall appear for a case

7   management conference on December 13, 2011 at 2 pm.
